Commitments Sought For Shopping District Trees

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is in the process of implementing its tree planting program, a first step in beautifying the Antioch shopping district.

A special meeting was held

May 6 to discuss the project. Attending were board members, village officials, presidents of Antioch's financial institutions, and members of the Chamber's Beautification Committee.

Mike Haley, representing the village, said that village officials are in favor of the tree planting project and will offer all possible cooperation. Todd Mapletorpe was appointed to act as village liaison with the Chamber.

In order to begin planting, commitments are needed for at least 80 trees to be planted randomly on Main St., Lake St., and in the Plaza. Each tree will cost $125, installed directly into the sidewalk.

The Honey Locust tree was chosen because it has been successfully planted in many other towns. They have several practical advantages, including root systems that do not interfere with utility connections. They grow rapidly and have small leaves, eliminating a messy fall maintenance chore.

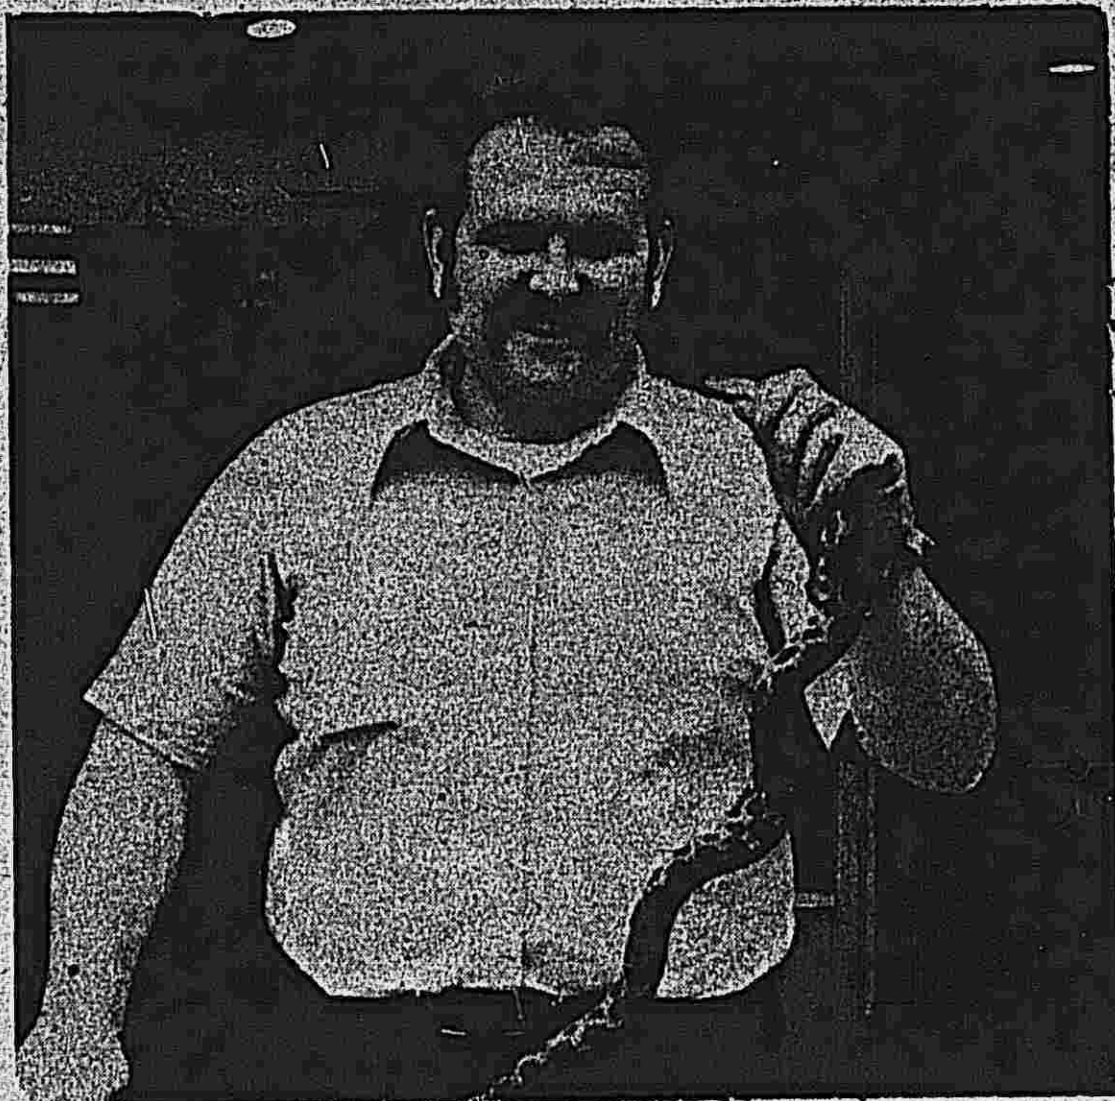

Beautification Committee members have carefully researched the program and will be happy to answer any questions. They are: Michael Warren, 395 Lake St., 395-5900 (Chairman); William Patterson, 931 Main St., 395-6212, and Richard Ford, 939 Main St., 395-5500.

Chamber-member block chairmen will be calling on all tenants and or landlords on Main and Lake streets. They will verbally present the project and then ask for a written commitment. Mayor Robert Wilton and Richard Kirkpatrick volunteered to contact those on West Main. Mr. Patterson will solicit on East Main. Jack Siegmeier and Gordon Cornelius will call on North Lake merchants while William Barr and James Lumber cover South Lake.

Through cooperation with the village and Antioch merchants, the Chamber hopes to successfully conclude the community development project. In succeeding weeks, progress reports on reaching the 80-tree commitment will be given.

Friendly Snake Visits Antioch

Did anyone lose a 4½-foot snake?

The cuddly little rascal was found loitering on Main Street last Friday, outside the law offices of Rhode & Lynch.

Women who noticed the reptile were just a little bit frightened, so they contacted the police department across the street.

Lake Villa's police chief, William Moore, happened to be visiting in Antioch and offered to handle the matter.

He picked up the snake and carried it down to Bill Slater, who owns the Fur, Feather & Fin pet store.

Slater put the snake in a cage and still had it as of Monday. He plans to release it somewhere in the rural area. (Not near you, of course.)

Slater described it as a bullsnake, quite harmless. He admits he doesn't like snakes but agreed to put on a glove and hold it up for the photographer. (The photographer stood 10 feet away ... no closeups, thanks.)

Slater guesses that the snake probably lived in the floodplain and, because of high water, decided to look for higher ground. Not even a snake can live in water for long.

Aqua Center Offers Free Swimming Thursday

Antioch's biggest annual Splash Party is planned Thursday afternoon at the Aqua Center.

The Lions Club is offering free swimming for everyone, from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

Memorial Day annually marks the opening of the heated pool. Thursday's plans include free gifts and surprises for children.

FRIDAY IS THE deadline for the special prices on season memberships. On or before that day, family memberships cost only $25. These include parents and two children under 18 years of age. The cost is only $3 for each additional child. Individual memberships cost only $12.50.

On or after Saturday, June 1, family memberships will cost $30 (with $3 for each additional child) and individual memberships will cost $15.

The memberships can be purchased at the State Bank of Antioch, the First National Bank, and at Wilton's Electric on Main St.

As in the past, the pool will be available for private swimming parties.

Graduation Weekend

That long-awaited weekend is arriving at Antioch Community High School.

Baccalaureate ceremonies will begin with a processional and the highlight will be an address by the Rev. Robert W. Younts of the Lake Villa Methodist Church.

His talk will be followed by remarks by Warren P. Polley, superintendent of schools.

The candidates for graduation will participate in another processional to begin the commencement program at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Bette M. Meyer, secretary of the Board of Education, will present the valedictorian and salutatorian awards. Brief talks will be given by William Beese, student council president, and Blair Fire, senior class president.

Diplomas will be presented by Robert M. Lindblad, president of the Board of Education.

Support Is The Best Answer To The Ills Of Stress

Dr. Leo Levy of the Dept. of Preventive Medicine and Community Health at the University of Illinois Medical Center in Chicago spoke to the Lake County Mental Health Society at its annual meeting recently at Downey Hospital. He named "stress" as the number one precipitant of disease both mental and physical. "Since stress can rarely be eliminated, the next best approach to health is to give the patient support through periods of stress. Emotional support will enable the patient to endure stress without disease," said Dr.

Levy. People can endure extraordinary stress if support is available. The best support system available is a family. "In a closely knit family, when an emergency arises, the support of the family is automatically activated. The trouble is today in many families emotional support is lacking. In that case, the patient needs a substitute support system like CONTACT: a crisis intervention service," said Dr. Levy. It is important to create extensions of the family, i.e. crisis service, hot lines, suicide centers and drug centers.

Meeting new strains

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

The United States emerges from its Memorial Day weekend to confront a Washington situation calling on the best resources of the people as well as all three branches of government.

From the people is required a maintenance of the quite remarkable equilibrium that has survived more than a year of Watergate upheaval — and which is needed in the face of new strains developing over the weekend.

From Congress, the Supreme Court, and the White House are required sound, nonpartisan judgment and decisive action to keep moving toward a resolution.

● In Congress, the House Judiciary Committee needs to press for the presidential evidence it requires while preventing procedural questions from diverting it away from the substance of its impeachment inquiry. As Vice-President Ford said last week, "I want the House of Representatives to make its judgment on the facts, not on some emotional, institutional issue."

● The Supreme Court needs to consider promptly the unusual action of special prosecutor Jaworski in going directly to the top for a decision on the subpoena for Watergate evidence with which Mr. Nixon refuses to comply. At issue here is whether Mr. Jaworski really does have the independence he was promised.

● The White House needs to act responsibly in the face of what amount to the legal gauntlets thrown before it. One option is to comply with the special prosecutor's subpoena in the spirit of last fall's eventual compliance when presidential counsel Wright said: "This president does not defy the law." If, in the absence of such compliance, the Supreme Court takes the case, then there should be none of the present hemming and hawing over whether the President would abide by its decision.

Ask the Governor

DAN WALKER

Q. What state agency regulates noise pollution and where can I send a complaint?

A. Noise pollution is the emission of sound that unreasonably interferes with the enjoyment of life, lawful business or activity, as defined in the state Noise Pollution Control Regulations.

Before August 1973, noise complaints were only handled by local officials under the public nuisance laws. Now, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's Division of Noise Pollution Control has the authority to investigate complaints, measure noise levels, notify owners of the noise sources and institute legal proceedings when a violator fails to comply with regulations.

About 40 percent of the violators comply when notified by EPA. Some problems can be solved simply, as in a recent case where a switch engine was moved a few yards. Others are complex and expensive. The two most common complaints filed are 1) noise from vehicles on highways and 2) aeration and cooling of grain in grain elevators.

The EPA has set maximum permissible noise levels by land use. The Illinois EPA is the first governmental body to establish limitations by land use categories, rather than by zoning patterns. The advantages of land use categories can be seen in the case of hotels and motels. While a hotel might be zoned "commercial," the people who sleep there should be entitled to similar protection from noise as is provided home dwellers.

Land use under Class A includes household units, hotels, mobile home parks, houses of worship, correctional institutions, libraries and forest preserves. Land use under Class B includes wholesale and retail trade; business, professional, educational and governmental services; and recreation areas. Class C land use includes industries, manufacturing plants, railroads, motor vehicles, utilities, race tracks and agricultural related activities.

Sound is measured in decibels (dB). Class C land is allowed to emit more noise than classes B or A. Class C may emit more noise to another class C than to B or A. The strictest limits are on noises emitted to Class A land, during nighttime hours.

Current state regulations concern only stationary sources. But regulations for vehicular noise, airports and construction operations are being developed. The federal government will probably propose regulations on railroads, aircraft and new trucks, before the year's end.

Noise is a byproduct of our industrial society and has been increasing on the average of one dB each year over the last 25 years. It is difficult to escape. It can cause anger and depression. And it can have physical repercussions. It can cause a tensing of the body and a contracting of blood vessels; a release of excess adrenaline into the system and a speeding up of heartbeat. It can impair or destroy a person's hearing.

Complaints such as a loud lawn mower and a squeaky air conditioner should be worked out among neighbors or reported to local authorities. More serious incidents of noise pollution should be directed to James Reid, Division of Noise Pollution Control, 2200 Churchill Rd., Springfield, Ill. (telephone: 217-786-6758).

What would you like to know about state government? Gov. Dan Walker welcomes your questions. Some, with the answers, may appear in this column. Letters must give the writer's name and address. Upon request your name will be withheld. Send to: ASK THE GOVERNOR, Illinois Information Service, 201 W. Monroe St., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

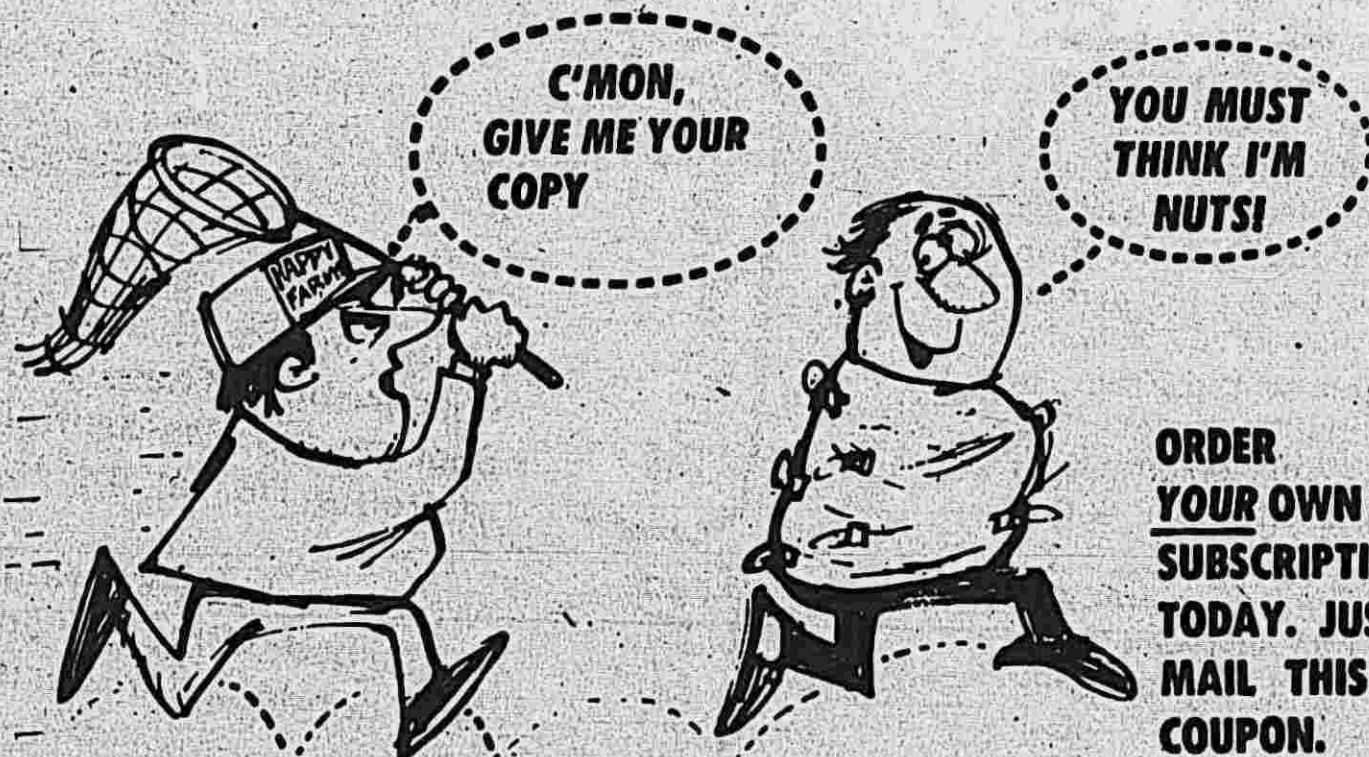

SAVE ENERGY

You can help conserve precious energy whenever you stop at a hotel or motel, suggests the American Hotel & Motel Association, by simply turning off the TV and lights before leaving your room, and by keeping windows closed when heat or air conditioning is on. It doesn't take much energy to conserve energy — all you have to do is try.

Science Can Be Fun

"Science is fun; it is planning and carrying out experiments. Science is learning by doing."

It may sometimes be difficult to convince a child of this, but it is the philosophy upon which new teaching methods in science education will be based.

Six local teachers are among 100 elementary school teachers who will have a chance to learn these teaching methods in two three-week sessions this summer at Northern Illinois university, DeKalb.

The six are: Sandra MacDonald, Marge Soderman, Diane Loughlin, Rebecca Liddle, Harlan Ware and Kathryn Urzedowski.

They will join teachers from Arlington Heights, Rock Falls, St. Charles, Westmont, Wyand, and the Walt Disney Magnet School in Chicago in learning about the Science Curriculum Improvement Study (SCIS) and the Elementary Science Study (ESS), both of which are utilized in the local grade schools.

According to Antioch superintendent Henry Meyer, the summer sessions will be followed through with evening and Saturday programs next school year in which the six teachers attending the summer workshops will help other teachers get started in the programs.

These "in-service" seminars will also allow the teachers to consult with each other and with the university personnel as they are actually involved with children in science.

Students To Launch Rockets

"Those Magnificent Students and Their Flying Machines" is the title for the latest 7th grade mini-school at the Antioch Upper Grade School. It is a three week experiment in interdisciplinary team teaching. Dave Booth (social studies), Paul Epner (science), Gail Guthrie (language arts), and Carol Latimer (mathematics) each combine to teach students about flying machines, supplying expertise in their own area.

As part of the course, students have learned about the history of aviation, public attitudes towards the space program, how different flying machines work, and more.

During the mini-school the students will have surveyed parts of Antioch relative to their attitudes towards the space program; will have learned the scientific basis of paper airplanes followed by a paper airplane contest; will have constructed and flown kites; and will have described mini-school via a school-made radio and T.V. shows, and a newspaper. The highpoint for the students seems to be the construction and launching of model rockets.

Mr. Epner built and launched rockets last year and it proved to be so popular, that it became the focal point of this year's mini-school.

This year, launching procedures will be more elaborate with launchings taking place on Wednesday, May 29, and Friday, May 31. Mayor Wilton will be on hand Friday at 10 a.m. to help with the launching. The public is also invited to attend the ceremonies. Should the launch be rained out, Monday, June 3 at 10 a.m. will be the alternate date.

Sound of Music in Rehearsal

"SIMPLY UNBELIEVABLE"
"a blessing in these turbulent times"

We extend a cordial invitation to our Friends in Antioch and the surrounding area and to all passersby, and to the valued customers of our Host, the First National Bank of Antioch, to visit an unusual exhibit at the main banking quarters, 485 Lake Street, on Friday, May 31st from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Saturday, June 1st from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Our exhibit, The Klingberg Hobby Hut. It has been described "so educational and encouraging" - "simply unbelievable" - "Thank you for being with us" - "you have given us renewed hope and happiness" - "we invite you in advance whenever your schedule permits" - "a blessing in these turbulent times" - "thank you for your dedicated efforts to awaken those who do not know or care or realize what your students can do."

Every item on display has been made by the students at the Klingberg Schools for the Mentally Retarded - under the dedicated teaching and understanding love and unlimited patience of those members of the Faculty in charge of instruction in ceramics, woodcraft and silk screening.

The actual firing and teaching in our ceramics are done by our Mrs. Jeanne Cameron, CC, (Certified Ceramist), under whose attentive guidance the students partake of the various steps from the pouring of the slip to the final glazing and decorating of the particular piece.

We exhibit in various Banks in Lake County and at the annual Lake County Fair - for the purpose of educating the public, young and old alike "Lest we forget God's most innocent children".

These items are for sale with the proceeds going to the Vocational Center Fund of The Klingberg Schools, an Illinois Not-For-Profit Corporation. These and other items may be purchased at our Gift Shop on the Residential Campus, approximately 1/8 of a mile north of Route 176, on the east side of Fairfield Road.

We have been serving the mentally retarded and the emotionally disturbed with pride and dignity since 1954 - in a world where hearts and hands are in harmony. You are invited to visit us.

As always we are warmly grateful to our banking hosts. We salute the First National Bank of Antioch for their awareness of community spirit and their invitation to us.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Sure hope everyone enjoyed the Memorial Day Weekend holiday. Sorta confusing though - with the kids in school Monday and all.

Our congrats to all the area graduates. Sure will be lots of parties this weekend.

Hear Phyllis Radtke finally had the cast taken off her arm. She's been putting up with it since last July 3. Some happy lady let me tell you.

Helen DeVries is just back from visiting her brother and relatives for a week in Collegeville, Penn. Talk about ladies with casts on their arm - here's another one. Let's hope you don't have as long a session, Helen.

PREPARING AT HOME FOR A NEW DOG

The transition from kennel to new home can be bewildering for your new puppy.

There are several things you can do to help him adjust.

Once you have brought your pup home, allow him time to get used to things. He will probably want to sniff around the house and parade before everyone.

If there are young children around, caution them about being overzealous in greeting their new friend. Encourage them not to shriek-out or make sudden grabs at him. Sudden movements and unaccustomed loud noises frighten small dogs. Remember, your role is to gain his confidence.

After your puppy has had a chance to relax, give him a pan of warm milk or water. This will confirm you are a friend.

During the first few nights in its new home, your pet may whine because it misses its mother and the warmth of former littermates.

There are several things you can do to relieve his loneliness and your own anxiety. Be compassionate, but be firm.

Was nice to see little Julie Cunningham enjoying the Memorial Day Parade on Monday with her parents. She's well on the mend now.

Grant Spang and his Florence are back after spending a few days in Green Lake, Wisconsin.

Remember Kids! Get your free day of swimming at the Aqua Center on the 30th. The pool opens at 1 p.m. for the season and it's free for everyone that day.

Our local firemen participated in the Annual Lake County Firemen's Convention last Saturday. They came home without any trophies this year and with the 1937 Stoughton in tow to boot. Better luck next year guys!

Be sure to get your tickets for the Athletic Banquet sponsored by the State Bank at Lorenz's on Monday night starting at 7 p.m. Our old friend Tyrone Walls will be the guest speaker.

Anniversary congrats to Bill and Janet Brook who celebrate on the 30th and to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zalatoris who will celebrate 60 years of wedded bliss May 31. Belated wishes to Andy and Josephine Fink who celebrated their 50th anniversary May 24th.

Birthday wishes this week are in order for Shirley Gutowski who celebrates on the 30th, to Peter Zalatoris on June 1, and to Liz Benes and Rick Zalatoris on June 2.

See ya,
Annie Mae

The purpose of Girls State is to provide the students with the opportunity of learning the responsibilities and rights of American citizenship. The girls learn to live and work together as a self-governing city.

Band To Get New Uniforms

The Antioch Community High School board has approved the purchase of $35,000 — $10,000 for new equipment and about $25,000 for replacement equipment.

The board will spend $15,000 to replace the school's 12-year old band uniforms. The new uniforms will be convertible for both the marching and concert bands.

Most of the new equipment will be used in creating a Power Mechanics II course. The Power Mechanics I course begun this year was basically concerned with small engines. Next semester the students will move on to automobile engines.

The board also voted last week to continue the Work Experience and Career Exploration program begun recently. Ann Kakacek has been rehired to direct the program, which gives training for "the world of work" to 14 and 15 year olds.

Principle Arthur Blecke reported that the Title I Reading Improvement program has been approved. It will be run in the summer in cooperation with elementary schools in Antioch, Grasslake, Emmons and Millburn, as well as in parochial schools.

Ill. 4th In Number of Veterans

Illinois ranks fourth in total number of veterans in a 50-state tally made by the Veterans Administration at the beginning of 1974. Joseph J. Mulone, director of the VA regional office in Chicago, said the state had a total of 1,548,000 veterans from all wars on December 31, 1973. Nationally there were 29,170,000 veterans.

California ranked first with 3,244,000; New York, second, with 2,507,000, and Pennsylvania, third with 1,747,000.

"Veteran Population," a report issued semiannually by the agency's Controller Office in Washington, is the source for the statistics.

A breakdown of Illinois veterans for different wars shows World War II veterans number 756,000. Vietnam accounts for 316,000; Korea, 265,000; World War I, 58,000, and an additional 162,000 served in peacetime between January 31, 1955 and August 5, 1964.

As of April 15, 1974 there were 42 Spanish-American War veterans who live in Illinois and are on the compensation and pension rolls of the VA in Washington. Nationally there were 1600 Spanish-American War veterans at the time of the report. As of April 15 there were 1,503, with an average age of 94.1 years.

The average age of all veterans is 45.3 years, with the largest number, 4.77 million, clustered in the 50-54 years age group. Veterans 45 to 49 years old comprise the next-largest group, 4.45 million. There are 3.58 million veterans aged 25 to 29 years in the third largest group, with the average age of a Vietnam veteran being 28.6 years.

ANTIOCH PACKING HOUSE CELEBRATES 50TH YEAR

Colorful pennants and banners decorate the Antioch Packing House and its parking lot on the north edge of town and, as usual, it is a busy and pleasant place to visit. The reason for the special attention this summer is the firm's Golden Anniversary. It was 50 years ago this month - in May of 1924 - when Joseph F. and Helen Patrovsky bought the Packing House from Christopher Roeschlein.

Mr. Patrovsky, born in Czechoslovakia, learned the meat business and owned markets in Chicago before moving to Antioch. He retired a few years ago and now the Packing House is operated by his son, Joseph J. Patrovsky and his wife, Gloria. Joe and Gloria are carrying on the same friendly, personal brand of service that his father offered over the many years since 1924.

The firm specializes in smoked meat and gourmet items and is known especially for its Jo-Pat brand of hickory smoked ham, bacon and sausage. In some ways Antioch Packing House has changed little over the years. It still has that old-fashioned market atmosphere, with an open cooler that invites customers to choose from the tantalizing displays of cheeses and fresh and smoked meats. Yet, in these days of modern equipment and thorough government inspection, the facilities are sparkling clean and efficient.

It is appetizing just to walk through the place. The use of whole hickory logs, burning slowly over embers helps produce that fine color and aroma of the firm's smoked products. During the Christmas holidays, specialty items of turkey, pheasant and mallard are added to the smoked gourmet list.

And there is a lot of history attached to this firm. In March of 1929 the front half of the old packing house was destroyed by fire. Then, just as it was being rebuilt, a tornado struck a month later, leveling a chicken coop and taking the roof off the garage. Fortunately, the windows hadn't been replaced or the glass would have been blown out by the storm.

Antioch Packing House was the biggest slaughtering packing house in Lake County until that work was abandoned several years ago. More than 120,000 hogs and 10,000 cattle were slaughtered there over the years. Once the Packing House slaughtered, dressed and cut up a 5,000 pound elephant to satisfy a customer who specialized in exotic canned meats. "We slaughtered tigers for the same Chicago company that owned the elephant," Joe Patrovsky recalls.

The packing house employs between 12 and 15 people. One of the men, Leslie Hanke of Antioch, has been with the firm for 39 years - since 1935. The business is successful because it maintains an excellent reputation for quality.

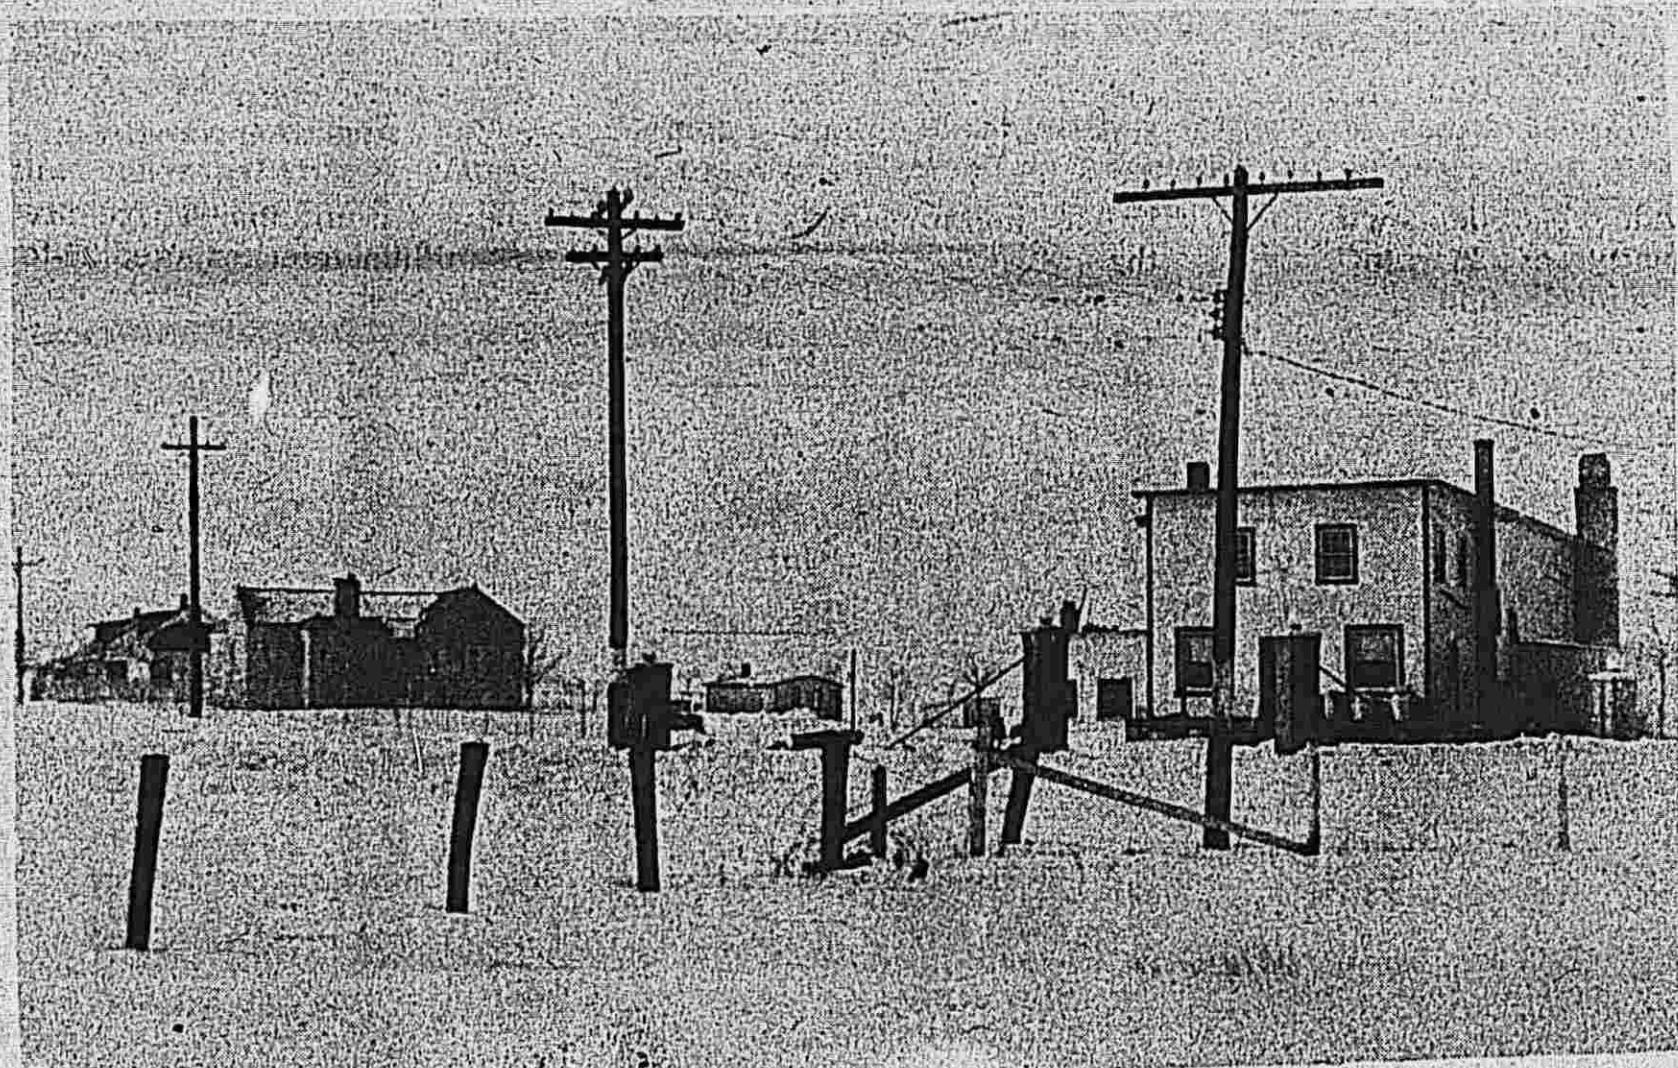

Although his business doesn't give him as much spare time as he would like, Joe is an outdoorsman. He enjoys hunting, fishing and trap shooting. He is also a civic leader. He was one of the original organizers of the Antioch Savings and Loan and has been president of the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce. Joe attended the University of Illinois after World War II and was married in 1952. He and Gloria have one daughter, Jody, 17.

Joseph F. and Helen Patrovsky came from Chicago and purchased the Antioch Packing House from Christopher Roeschlein in 1924.

Joseph F. and Helen Patrovsky are retired now and the business is being operated by their son

It's nestled among trees now, but the Antioch Packing House and the Patrovsky homestead (left) were in a bleak setting in the 1920s when the family took over the business.

Antioch Packing House, famous for its Jo-Pat brand of hickory smoked meats, is on North Main Street at the railroad tracks ... all decked out for its Golden Anniversary celebration.

Vaughan at Large

By Bill Vaughan

Why is it we hear so much about unhappiness when we are assured on several hands that all the private and governmental sectors are interested in making us happy?

The oil companies want to bring us more oil while at the same time protecting our birdies and beasties. The savings and loan companies want us to have carefree vacations for which we needn't worry about the wherewithal. Just ask for the money and the friendly folk at wherever will virtually force it on us, especially if we call them by their first name.

The grocery cares about us. We are not customers to them. They know that we are facing rising food costs. Therefore they come to our assistance with their sympathetic attention to our every need.

The primary interest of brewers is your popularity with your poker club.

Similarly government wants you to have a beautiful old age, no problem with your taxes and a fair shake all around.

This is all wonderful. Has any people in history been so surrounded by people who care? Our bread is made by a process that takes extra hours so that we can enjoy it more. Solicitous fingers pick the beans (or is it berries?) from the shady side of the mountain so our coffee won't attract Mrs. Olson.

Religious leaders encourage us to think that jotting down a Biblical verse on our score card will help us tour the course in 66.

We are the recipients of so much caring, that it is a puzzle as to where the unhappiness comes from.

If we are in any way afflicted by care we can dial the right number to make it all well.

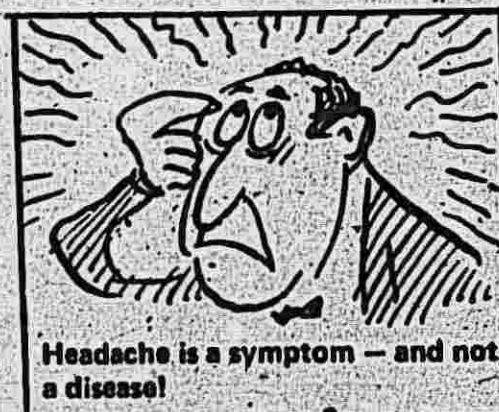

According to the real estate developers we may easily live in worry-free homes and, should we leave them, the automobile folk promise us miles of carefree driving.

Popular philosophers assure us that sin and guilt no longer exist. The devil made a brief bid for a comeback but didn't even receive a major Oscar.

So how could we possibly be unhappy? Don't look to me for an answer. If I gave you one it would be unfashionably theological.

Look, instead, deep within yourself. Unless there is something more cheerful and reassuring on television, as there is bound to be.

Aren't you glad?

All around the world, people say that American women today have THE LOOK, the vitality and self-confidence that women everywhere want to imitate.

How can a woman attain this special "look," this vitality? When I tour the country in my role as National Beauty Advisor to Sears, Roebuck and Co., I emphasize that good looks begin with a healthy body. And that depends upon the basics like proper nutrition, sufficient rest and exercise.

Starting now, take the time (just 15 minutes a day will do it!) for a regular exercise program.

Hamsters May Transmit Disease, Dept. Says

The Lake County Health Department has warned that hamsters are transmitting disease to humans.

A spokesman for the department said this week that any hamsters purchased or received as a gift between Dec. 4 and April 1 are suspected of being infectious. It is a type of disease, she said, that can be transmitted to humans by contact with the animal's feces.

"Be sure the animal is healthy," the warning said. "If it appears not to be, or if anyone is ill in the home, contact the health department at 244-0550 for information."

Symptoms in the human are like flu symptoms and may lead to a coma. The incubation period from time of contact is eight to 13 days.

NIGHTGOWNS ARE NAPSACKS

When Wife Yells 'Haishu!' She Isn't Sneezin'

By JERRY PFARR

There was a time, Hollywood's historians assure us, when young ladies could flutter down the avenue with parasols twirling and the worst villains they might expect to encounter were men like Gordon MacRae (if they dared to ride on a carousel) or Robert Preston (if a music man came to town).

But, alas, today, the crime rate demands that damsels in distress be armed with something more than charm.

Perhaps this explains why only five women signed up for a charm course in my hometown while women's self-defense classes are crowded.

We overheard two men discussing the situation last week. Their conversation went something like this:

"My wife is taking a judo class for women," said the first, who had his arm in a sling.

"So is mine," said his neighbor.

"I told her," said the first man, "that it's a waste of time. I read where she would need about 50 lessons before becoming expert enough to handle an assailant."

"Did she quit?"

"No, she let out a shrill yell, grabbed me by the left lapel and the right sleeve and threw me on the floor."

"What was the yell for?"

"Something she learned from the judo instructor. She said it freezes the adversary for a split second, making the toss easier."

"It worked, huh?"

"Yeah. Scared the daylight out of me."

"I wouldn't mind this judo kick," he added, "if she would just stop running around the house barefoot in that kimono with the white belt. Not only that, but she's been serving our meals on the floor."

"And the other day I came home from work and tried to kiss her, but she insisted I kneel and give the ceremonial bow."

"My wife wears a whistle around her neck," said the neighbor, "and she carries a long hatpin, a small baseball bat and a can of aerosol spray in her purse. She's armed to the teeth."

"She also bought a big, mean dog. 'Killer,' she calls him. She said she read that no woman has ever been attacked while walking a dog."

"That's silly," said the first man. "Any police officer will tell you that a woman's best weapon is a blood curdling scream."

"That's what I always say," said his neighbor. "When in danger, when in doubt, run in circles, scream and shout."

"It's getting to the point where it isn't safe for a man to walk the streets at night."

"Yeah, I'm not only afraid of the dog, but I'm beginning to be afraid of my wife."

"We have to do something. Why don't we take a course in karate? Wouldn't your wife be surprised? You could leap through the front door, smash a brick with one blow, yell 'Tsuki' or something, and assume a karate thrust stance, as if you were going to attack."

"Are you kidding? She'd probably throw me on the floor again."

Baggage Insurance

Luggage insurance is inexpensive protection that you should have for the entire duration of your trip. If you don't have a personal property floater on your house and property insurance, you can buy short term insurance specifically for your luggage and its contents. Be sure and check with your insurance agent prior to your trip and if you aren't covered have your Travel Agent arrange for the insurance by the issuance of such a policy.

Many inexpensive but very dependable baggage insurance policies are available. Be sure and include your cameras. This is one important item which is so often over-looked and the first item to be left behind. Also if you are taking a special sport tour you may want to take out a personal accident insurance policy, of which can also be provided by your local travel agent.

To travel with peace of mind, the small premium for complete insurance on yourself, luggage, clothes and personal possessions is a good investment. In addition, it is wise to keep jewelry on your person or in the hotel safe at stops. It only takes a call to your travel agent and within moments he can have everything ready for you along with your airline ticket. Remember, he is a professional so when in doubt - give a call.

Old-Fashioned Porch

By EVALYN ROZEK

A porch with warmth. A porch with charm. A porch that's homey enough and gracious enough to appeal to lost kittens and carefree children. There's a porch like this in every neighborhood.

I think ours is one of them.

The last time I looked, our porch (all fifteen square feet of it) was occupied by seven shouting boys, one three-year-old girl who believes she is a three-year-old boy, two teddy bears, an albino squirrel and a friendly hippie. I'm not even sure there IS a porch under all that activity.

But they just don't make 'em like they used to.

When we were children, porches were great wooden creations that stretched the entire width of the house. Some of the older ones curved and wound their elegant way until they had encircled nearly half the home to which they belonged.

Now, those were porches.

In fact, they were much more than that. They were anything we wanted them to be - anything at all.

They were great, wooden ships we sailed in a grassy sea. They were forts we manned to save ourselves from ambushing Indians or outlaws. They were castles we resided in when we took a notion to don old curtains and play King and Queen.

We ate on them. We "camped out" on them. When we could get away with it, we ROLLER SKATED on them.

We exchanged confidences on them. Dark, terrible truths such as "Santa Claus is really your Mom and Dad" or "babies grow in ladies' stomachs, you know."

Lost in our world of pirates, cowboys and soldiers (the Sunday matinee corrupted us, not TV) we mercilessly jumped from the railings of these porches and caused the bridal wreath or peonies (or whatever unfortunate flora happened to be growing there) to die a slow and ignominious death.

Of course, the best porches of all were equipped with a swing. This wonderful invention, built for a more genteel generation, was cruelly mistreated by the youngsters of my day. We crowded on to them, stood on them, ran crazy, zig-zag courses on them - until we thudded once too often against the side of the house. At this point, a long-suffering parent would appear at the door, scowl through the screen and scatter us with, "You kids get offa the porch now!"

No matter. There was always another one to scurry to.

But not anymore. The good old-fashioned front porch is, in today's terminology, an "endangered species." The only time our children see a halfway decent porch is if we take them to their grandparents'.

We'll never have the opportunity to watch them jump into... into our shrubbery.

We'll never hear the happy sound of roller skates thundering on wood. We'll... we'll...

...thank our lucky stars that all they have to play on is fifteen square feet of concrete.

Hear ye!

Have you heard about the taxpayer clocks? Every half hour they wring their hands.

I decided to do my Father's Day shopping early, but I'm having a difficult time. The Antioch shopping district has so many things that Dad would like.

For example, have you looked in the Playboy Boutique and Barware Center at BJ's Fashions?

And all those neat gifts at Jackie's Little Gallery? And that really fascinating selection of greeting cards at Jackie's? Cuter than a basket of kittens. By the way, Jackie's is closed on Wednesdays now.

I CAN'T FORGET to wish my good friend, Bob Hope, a happy birthday today. My gosh, he's 71. I'll never forget the time he and I were golfing together and he turned to me and said:

"You know, this sport requires strong legs and language.

As he was lining up a putt, Bob turned to the caddy and asked:

"When was the last time this green was cut?"

"This morning," said the caddy.

Bob surveyed the put again, then asked:

"What time this morning?"

I'M PUTTING a birthday card in the mail today for Joe Namath. Hope he gets it by Friday. He'll be 31...pretty old for all that swinging he's doing.

I'm not getting any younger either, but I felt like a kid again on Sunday when I ordered one of those fantastic Boston Style chocolate sundaes at The Vault Restaurant.

SPEAKING OF birthdays, Don Ameche is going to be 66 on Friday. He was born over there in Kenosha. Wasn't he the guy who invented the telephone?

Mail may be slower than the telephone, but it's the only way you can get in touch with people who have teen-age daughters.

THE NEWS from nearby Richmond is that Andre's Steak House is now serving prime ribs of beef seven days a week. And if you've ever tasted Andre's prime ribs, well - enough said. I'm getting in my car and driving over there right now.

But, first, it just occurred to me:

Isn't it nice that you never see a proud child who is always taking out pictures of his grandparents?

The Antioch Mental Health Association's charter members and long-time workers and their husbands were honored at a dinner at Lorenz's on May 19.

The dinner was given by the board of Grove School. Grove School, in Lake Forest, is for retarded and seriously handicapped children.

The Mental Health Association is presently equipping the school's new therapy room.

Mrs. Virginia Madson, founder of Grove School was mistress of ceremonies and presented tributes to many groups and individuals who have helped the school's children.

To the Antioch Mental Health Association, Mrs. Madson read the following tribute:

"TO THE MEMBERS, past and present, of the Antioch Mental Health Association:

Dental Facts

Unless a child who wears braces brushes his teeth carefully after every meal, bacteria can get in the wires of the braces and cause periodontal problems, a Public Affairs Pamphlet on teeth explains.

However, many individuals who wear orthodontic appliances, including braces, find that the touch of most toothbrushes makes brushing hurtful.

A new toothbrush recently made available by Block Drug Company may prove helpful. The new brushes, called Sensodyne Gentle, have ultra-soft, gentle bristles and are designed to make it possible to reach into difficult areas to maintain preventive brushing.

Sensodyne toothpaste, the dentifrice most often recommended by dentists for reducing the pain of overly-sensitive teeth, was found to clean and polish overly-sensitive teeth effectively.

"Your hard work and devotion also goes out to others like ourselves in the community. The Lake County Mental Health Clinic, The Lambs, many individual children have all had their work enriched by your continuing enthusiasm and hard work.

"You maintain one of the most attractive thrift shops in the county, and you give cotillions which are second to none anywhere.

"We all admire you, enjoy your loving friendship, and wish to say to each one of you, "We love you very much."

"The new physical therapy center and all its equipment are the result of your efforts.

"Tonight we salute you.

MRS. RAY LORENZ, President of the Mental Health Association, thanked her and assured her the group will continue to work for the children at Grove School. It was an evening all in attendance will long remember.

The Thrift Shop Workers and Cotillion Committee were honored on last Wednesday at a luncheon at Lorenz's for their work during the year. Mrs. Richard Tobias, Cotillion chairman, presented Mrs. Lorenz with a check for $2,263. Mrs. Tobias thanked her committee for the many hours they worked to make the Cotillion a success.

It was voted to present Grove School with a check at the dedication of its new building on June 23.

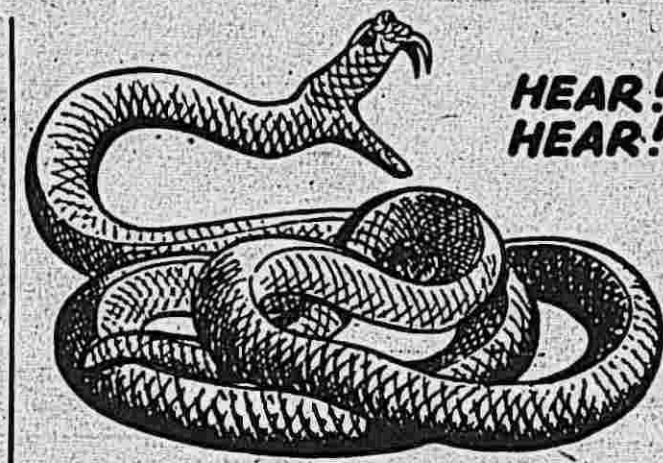

Mrs. Albert Bucar was appointed publicity chairman and Mrs. Ed Vos, Mrs. Clarence Spiering and Mrs. Lloyd Leable will be in charge of the booth for the Art Fair.

Mrs. Lorenz announced that Mrs. Ray Lewis and Mrs. Gerald Risch will be the chairmen for next year's Cotillion.

Cancer Crusade Exceeds Goal

Mrs. William Brook, chairman, has announced that American Cancer Society's Crusade in Antioch has exceeded its goal but if you have not sent in your contribution as yet, please do as the American Cancer Society needs every cent available. A total of $2 million in approved research went unfunded last year for lack of funds.

To date $1,078 has been received from neighbors in Antioch. The goal for Lake County is $203,680, of which $161,357 has been collected. This is 79 percent of the goal.

Mrs. William Brook, who is also chairman for all of Branch IV, has reported that Branch IV has exceeded its goal of $5,625 by collecting $6,773.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

God's infinite presence was proved by Jesus when he healed the son of one of the multitudes, as is recorded in the Bible in St. Mark 9. This is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on "ANCIENT AND MODERN NECROMANCY, alias MESMERISM AND HYPNOTISM, DENOUNCED" at Churches of Christ, Scientist, this Sunday.

From Science and Health with key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read: "Christ is the ideal Truth, that comes to heal sickness and sin through Christian Science, and attributes all power to God."

Services of First Church of Christ, Scientist, BEACON HILL, Rte. 173 and Harden, Antioch, Illinois begin at 11 a.m. All are welcome, and care for children is provided.

Charmglow Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Set For Abbey Springs Country Club

The Eighth Annual Charmglow Invitational Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament will be held on Friday, June 21 at Abbey Springs Country Club in Fontana, Wisconsin. It was announced today by Frank "Biff" Pancratz, Director of Golf at Abbey Spr. gs, and Director of the Charmglow Tournament since its inception.

Billed as "the world's richest one-day pro-am golf tourney," this year's tournament will top all previous years with $55,000 awarded in cash prizes and gifts — an increase of $10,000 each year for the past two years. Prizes will include 1974 automobiles, Charmglow gas barbecue grills, golf equipment, and other items.

Abbey Springs Country Club is part of the resort community on the southwest shore of Lake Geneva. The 320-acre complex has extensive year-round recreational facilities, condominiums and single-family homes.

Charmglow Products, a division of Beatrice Foods, Chicago, is the nation's leading manufacturer of gas lighting fixtures and gas barbecue grills. Headquartered in Antioch, Illinois, Charmglow's factory is in Bristol, Wisconsin. The company is noted for hiring the handicapped.

There will be 36 teams of five men each — one pro, one celebrity, and three amateurs — for the two-ball, best-ball event. Play will begin at 11:30 AM shot gun style when sky divers parachute to the ground signalling the start.

Golfers will include P.G.A. professionals, amateurs from across the country, and celebrities from non-golfing professional sports teams and the media. Again this year, celebrities will represent the Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers, Miami Dolphins and other football teams, as well as the Milwaukee Bucks, Chicago Blackhawks, and other national teams. A celebrity, not yet named, will M.C. the evening's awards banquet following the tournament.

Spectators will be welcomed at the event ($1 per person at the gate), with all proceeds again this year being donated to the Christian League for the Handicapped in Fontana. Several local organizations also will sponsor concession stands for spectators at the tournament.

Portable Classrooms for Oakland

Some students assigned to Oakland grade school next fall will be attending classes in a portable classroom.

The District 34 Board of Education approved purchase of two movable units from Grayslake high school at a cost of $7,500 each. District 34 must also assume to cost of relocating and placing the units.

Purchase of the portable units is intended to relieve overcrowding at Oakland school without having to reassign students to other buildings, a school official indicated.

The board also accepted the proposal of Larson Industrial Roofing Co. to repair the roof on Channel Lake school for a total cost of $2,100. This was considered lower than what it would cost to buy the materials and have school district employees do the work.

If you're willing to do a little simple arithmetic, you can do something about the energy crisis.

It can help you buy an air conditioner that's efficient. And today, that's important.

You may not realize this, but some air conditioners use a lot more electricity than others to cool the same amount of space. And in the summer, when the heat gets unbearable and millions of people turn on their air conditioners to find relief, this can amount to a significant waste of electricity.

On a normal summer day as the chart below indicates, Commonwealth Edison may have to deliver three to four million kilowatts more than on an average winter day. To meet this summer demand, extra amounts of fuel must be burned. By making sure you buy the kind of air conditioner that gives the same cooling with less electricity, you can save money and save us all critically needed fuel. The thing to check is known as the EER, an engineer's term which stands for Energy Efficiency Ratio. And there's information on every air conditioner that lets you figure it out.

You don't have to be an engineer to find the EER.

All the information you need to buy an efficient air conditioner can be found on the metal plate attached to the unit.

MODEL NUMBER ACR20B74F
VOLTS	CYCLE	PHASE
115	60	1
COOLING BTU/HR		AMPS
6000		7.5
		WATTS
		850

To get the EER, simply divide the BTUs by the watts. If you're comparing two 6,000-BTU models for efficiency, it would look like this:

$$\frac{1200}{5 \text{ EER}} = \frac{1200}{6000 \text{ BTUs}} \div \frac{240}{7.5 \text{ WATTS}}$$

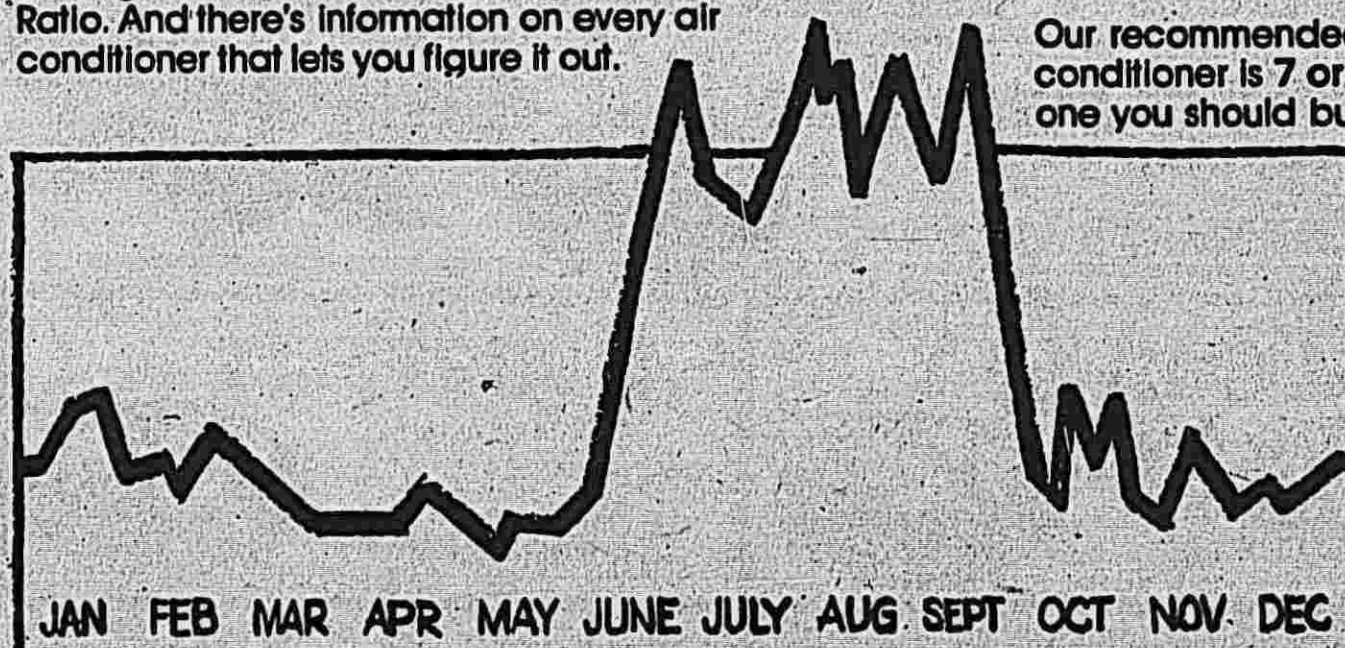

$$\frac{850}{7 \text{ EER}} = \frac{850}{6000 \text{ BTUs}} \div \frac{122.5}{7.5 \text{ WATTS}}$$

Our recommended energy efficiency ratio for an air conditioner is 7 or more, so the unit on the right is the one you should buy. Low efficiency units have EERs of around 5 or 6.

If the metal plate on the unit is difficult to locate, ask your dealer for the information you need to determine its efficiency.

You save money, too.

You've already found that the unit on the right in the example above is the more efficient air conditioner. It probably will cost a little more to buy, but because it's more efficient, it would cost less to operate. In the long run, an efficient air conditioner helps keep electricity rates as low as possible. And right now, an efficient air conditioner helps conserve our country's natural resources.

Car Flips, Hits Wall

Waukegan Bill McDonald of Crystal Lake jumped into the late model sportsman point-lead last Saturday at the Waukegan Speedway, capturing an accident-marred 25-lap feature.

McDonald took the lead from Ed Dunne, fast heat winner, on the 9th lap and was never seriously challenged.

Roy Acuff, who won the semi-feature, came from the back of the pack to finish second with Chuck Clark third.

Joe Torri turned in fast time for the night and then drove to fourth money in the main event.

The most spectacular and serious accident of the season occurred on the 6th lap when Ray Armour of Carpentersville was 'T-boned' by Dave Horst of Gurnee in the first turn. Armour's car nearly flipped and finally came to rest on top of the steel wall.

Horst was taken to the hospital with a dislocated wrist in the crash. Armour was unhurt.

Apparently the two cars ran over a bumper that had just fallen from another car. The bumper, from Willie Winchester's Torino, fell three laps after he had been black-flagged. He was disqualified from the race.

Northbrooks Tom Jones scored his first feature win of the year in convincing fashion Sunday night by a half-lap margin over runner-up Bob Roper in the 50-lap Memorial Day Classic late model race.

Jones, who was really off the pace in time trials, got it all together for the main event pushing past Tom Urban in the fourth lap for the lead.

State Bank To Honor ACHS Basketball Champs

Tyrone Walls, star athlete and 1967 graduate of Antioch Community High School, will be the guest speaker at the special banquet, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, honoring the ACHS Northwest Conference championship basketball team, coaches and cheerleaders. The latter will attend the banquet as guests of the State Bank next Monday 7 p.m. at Lorenz's Country House.

The public is cordially invited to attend this event and dinner tickets at $5.50 per person are available at the State Bank of Antioch.

available at the State Bank of Antioch and Antioch High School up until Saturday.

TYRONE WALLS graduated from ACHS in 1967 after an impressive three years of varsity sports, starring in football, basketball and track.

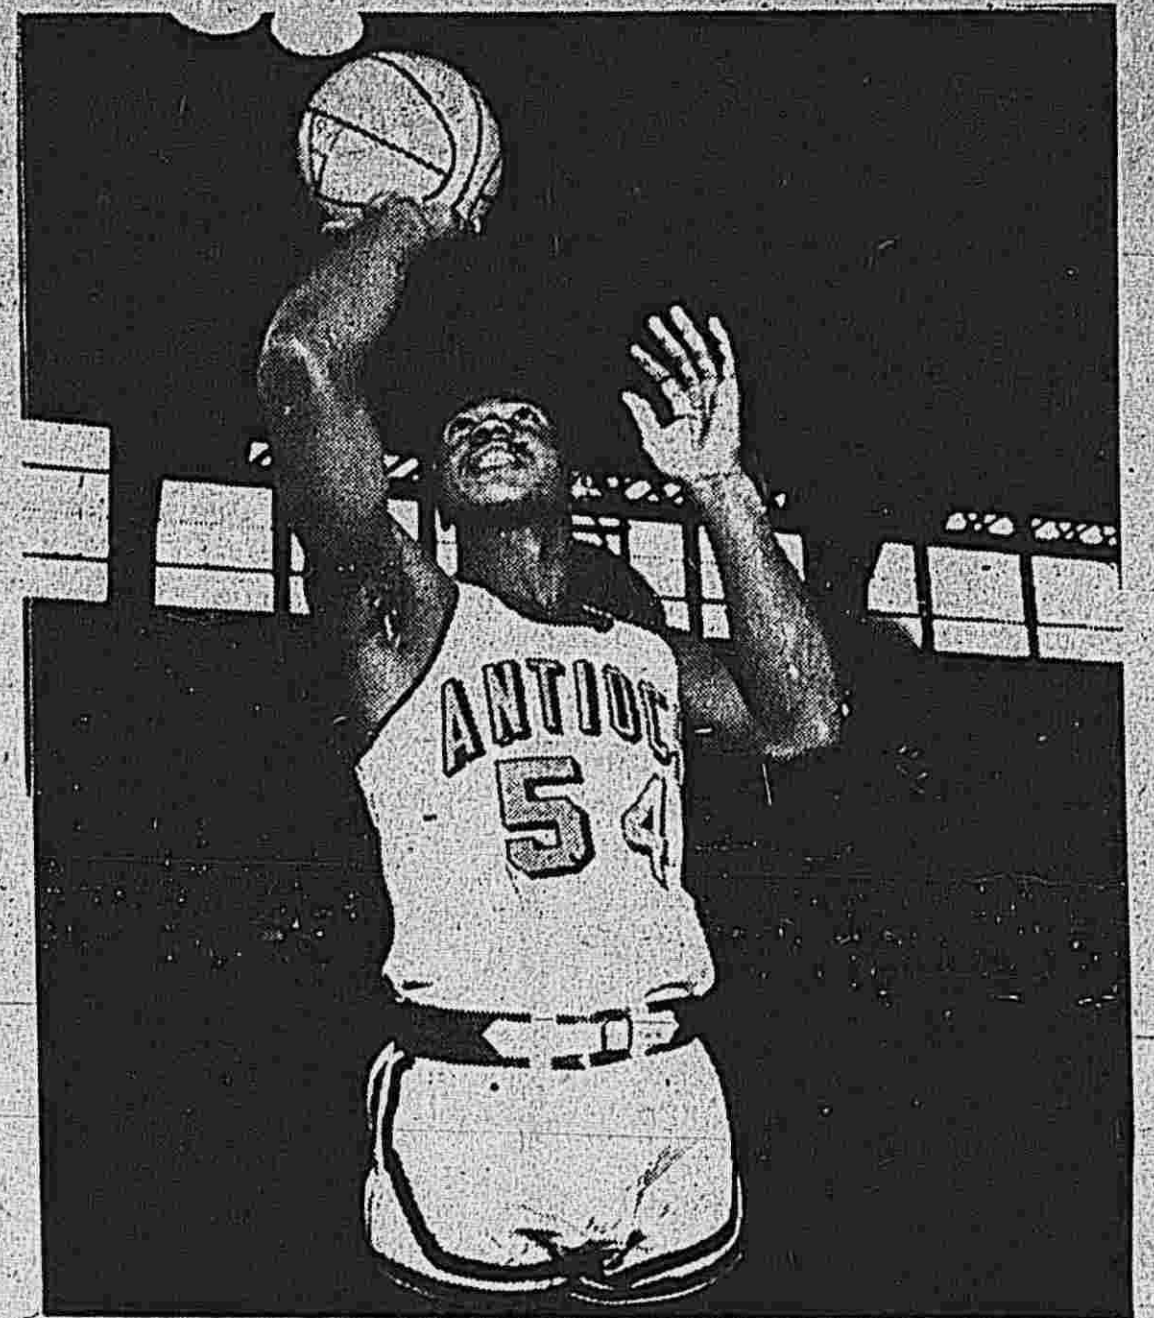

He was all-conference and all-Lake County in football and basketball during his junior and senior years, as well as all-state in both sports during his senior year. In track, he qualified for the state finals as a senior.

After high school graduation, Ty attended Fort Hayes Junior College for one year, participating in football, basketball and track. After completing one year at Fort Hayes, he was accepted at the University of Missouri, where he concentrated on his football career as a regular tight end for three years with the Missouri Tigers, competing in the Orange Bowl during his junior year.

AFTER COLLEGE, Ty was drafted in the 8th round by the Buffalo Bills, but was later released because of injuries. In 1972, he was signed by the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League playing first-string tight end and was elected to the Canadian Rookie all-league team. The Eskimos had a very successful 1973 season and Ty was instrumental in their advancement to the All-Canadian Gray Cup championship game, losing in the last two minutes to the Ottawa Rough Riders 22-18.

Recently married to the former Dolores James of Chicago, stewardess with Delta Air Lines, Ty and his wife reside in Chicago during the off-season where he is involved in his work as a counselor to college students at Malcolm X College of Chicago.

TYRONE WALLS, who will be the guest speaker at the State Bank of Antioch's banquet honoring the ACHS team, coaches and cheerleaders, is shown in a familiar pose when he was a star here. The public is cordially invited to attend the special banquet to be held next Monday, 7 p.m. at Lorenz's Country House. Dinner tickets at $5.50 per person are available at the State Bank and at Antioch High School up until Saturday.

5 Cars Crash At Wilmot Track

WILMOT -- The special holiday 30-lap feature at Kenosha County Speedway Saturday night was won by Gene Erdmann of Hartland, Wis.

Track point leader Dick Duston of Greenfield, Wis., was second in the Interstates Racing Association event for super modified cars.

The show was marred by an accident in the 15th lap of the semi-feature for super modifieds. Five cars were involved in a chain-reaction collision. A car driven by Tom Anderson of Antioch landed on top of another car, and Mike Matthews' Antioch car flipped down the back straightaway a couple of times, finishing on its roof. Matthews and Joe Fote of Milwaukee suffered minor injuries.

Monday night's special late model show was won by Wes Eckert of Greenfield. Two more late model shows are planned later in the season.

2,000 Hikers Coming

As many as 2,000 persons may walk in the Antioch area on Saturday, June 1, in an effort to raise money for Midwestern farmers and the poverty-stricken residents of a Central American village.

If this many turn out for the event, and if they all were to complete the established 30-mile route, a total 60,000 miles of effort will have been expended.

The fund-raising aspect comes in that each walker will have secured sponsors, who pledge to contribute a certain amount per mile walked. With a card validated at several checkpoints along the route, each walker will then return to collect on the pledges and turn the money over to the Young World Development Association of the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation, sponsors of similar "Walks for Development" throughout the United States.

ANTIOCH COMMUNITY high school student Bill Harris, coordinator of the local Walk, says that 42.5 percent of the money raised here has been designated for the Farmers Coop, an organization of the American Friends Service Committee which serves farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Another 42.5 percent will be invested in a community development program in San Lucas, Guatemala. Harris described this as a "total development project," intended to get money into circulation in an area where the average income is only $150 a year.

The remaining 15 percent raised on the walk pays administrative costs.

Although Walks for Development have taken place in hundreds of other U.S. cities since 1968 -- and in Europe before that -- this will be the first in this region. It will also be the first "interstate" walk anywhere, Harris said, with walkers passing through Wilmot on the route which begins and ends at Antioch high school.

IT WILL BE unique, too, in that people are expected from as far away as Chicago. Harris has been notified that students from St. Benedict's high school, 3900 N. Leavill, Chicago, will come to Antioch for the Walk.

A Walk office has been established (telephone 395-1126) for persons interested in participating in or supporting the effort.

Bowling News

Antioch Bowling Lanes Youth Bowling Program came to a climax with three huge banquets all held at the Bowling Lanes. All the food and trophies were donated by Antioch Bowl. All totaled there were nearly 500 bowlers and parents in attendance.

The first banquet was held on Friday night, May 3, for the Major Division. These are the older bowlers of high school age. There were 50 bowlers in this league with 10 different sponsors. The sponsors were: The Hobby Barn, Hahn Jewelers, The State Bank of Antioch, King Drugs, Antioch Savings and Loan, Antioch Police, First National Bank of Antioch, H.O.D., and Antioch Bowl.

First place this year went to the Antioch Savings and Loan team -- Jonn Christiansen, Jeff Drazewski, Leslie Quirk, Dan Cartner and Jeff Schmidt.

Then on Saturday afternoon, May 4, the Bantams had their day. This year was the largest of any for Bantams having 100 bowlers. The banquet was attended by over 200 bowlers and parents. The entire league of over 100 bowlers was sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch.

This year, the league being so large, there were two divisions -- American and National.

The members of the First Place team in the American Division were Dawn Quendenfeldt, Heidi Force, Ramona Hauser, Sandy Hartman, Linda Ponszczyk. The members of the First Place National division team were Mike Hogan, Larry Knab, Dan Svoboda, Bill Dotson, Tim Plett.

Then for the climax on Monday night, May 6, the Juniors (the middle age group) had their banquet. This complete league (both morning and afternoon) comprised of nearly 100 bowlers was sponsored entirely by the First National Bank. There were nearly 200 bowlers and parents at this banquet.

The First Place in the morning Juniors was Tim Podlin, Tom Podlin, Fred Bentel, and Ray Kirby.

First Place in the afternoon Juniors was Dan Parpan, Paul Schneider, Gene Lehn, Neal Lulofs, and Dennis Koyenek.

The best performance of the entire year for the complete youth program was turned in by Jim Perlstrom. Jim had a high game of 265 and a high series of 645. Jim will receive a special association trophy for each of these.

Over 100 trophies were handed out all together.

Then to add to the fun, each year The State Bank of Antioch sponsors and donates all the trophies for an annual tournament for the boys and girls. Nearly 50 trophies were handed out for this. The winners were Majors -- Glen Thibedeau, 118 pins over average; Denise Weber, 22; Mike Burke, 92; Sandy Schmeisser, 17. Juniors -- Wendy Zich, 108; Rusty Long, 124; Denise Haase, 78; Tim Troyer, 66; Mike Lischewski, 153; Sue Fisher, 24; Roger Korjenek, 136. Bantams -- Mike Hogan, 63; Scott Schroeder, 63; Sandy Vos, 54; Libor Jung, 56; Lori Mertz, 46; Dawn Quendenfeldt, 44; Ricky Svoboda, 52.

Antioch Bowl, Joe Sterbenz and Marty Padjen wish to extend their sincere appreciation to the State Bank of Antioch and the First National Bank of Antioch for their cooperation in making this program for the young bowlers of Antioch possible. Each of these banks sponsors over 20 teams of bowlers each year. That's a lot of bowling shirts. Any parents wishing to add to this can see Mr. Reckers at the State Bank or Mr. Woods at the First National Bank. They will be very happy to hear from you.
